HEADHUNTER 6 SENDS...

Friends and Family of the Headhunter Squadron,
As we close in on the half way point of the deployment, the Headhunters are still doing amazing things. If you happen to be reading the Army Times this past month, you will see that the Headhunters have been featured for both heroism and successfully completing our mission of training the Iraqi security forces. The Army Times highlighted the actions of a couple of our heroes from the circumstances surrounding the 15th of January and spoke very highly of the Ghuzlani Warrior Training Center.

This month saw us complete our second rotation of the Ghuzlani Warrior Training Center. Highlighting this rotation was a battalion level live fire exercise. The Squadron worked extremely hard for three weeks to prepare the 2nd Battalion of the 11th Brigade for this exercise and our hard work showed as we received accolades from MG Allyn, the current 1st Cavalry Division Commander, and MG Perkins, the 4th Infantry Division Commander. We continue to get many visitors to the training center and everyone of them says that we are setting the example for the entire northern part of Iraq with our advise, train and assist efforts. It just goes to show you, that when the Headhunters put their minds to something, it is going to be done to an extremely high standard.

Bandit Troop at Al Kisik and Checkpoint 11 definitely continues to amaze us and also jumped on the live fire bandwagon. They conducted a night live fire mortar shot with both illumination and high explosive ammunition. It looked like the 4th of July in February in Northern Iraq! Bandit Troop looks to spend the next month beginning its Troop Commander transition from CPT John Nimmons to CPT Ramey Moore. More to follow next month...

We also bid farewell to Nick and Paola Lucas as they relinquished command of Desperado Troop. Nick and Paola have been in the Squadron since 2005. Nick has held every logistics job from platoon leader to S4 to Troop Commander. His knowledge and experience will be sorely missed. Nick and Paola were replaced by Reggie and Gena Cotton. Reggie comes to us from the 27th BSB and grew up in a Reconnaissance Squadron in Hawaii, so he knows how to be a Scout. Reggie is full of excitement and will do great as Desperado 6.

I know I have said this before, but I feel truly blessed to be the Squadron Commander for this great Squadron. The Troopers continue to amaze me with their enthusiasm and team work as we clear the hurdles of this deployment. I appreciate your continued support.
